

ULTIMATE SUCCESS: OF MEDIATION SEEN DESPITE CARRANZA

TO SUBMIT PROPOSAL

Which Will be Referred to United States and Huerta.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, May 1. After receiving the Huerta government from the Spanish ambassador, Mr. Riano, the South American envoys seeking to mediate in the Mexican crisis entered their conferences today with more apparent confidence than ever that their work would succeed.

consented to an armistice, the Brazilian, Argentine and Chile mediators worked diligently on the proposed government and the Huerta regime as the next step in the negotiations. Representatives of the constitutionalists here intimated that General Carranza's acceptance of the principle of mediation would not be followed by an acceptance of an armistice and that the internal dispute in Mexico would not be included in the negotiations. In the meantime the mediators continued their conferences with President Wilson, and the cabinet in session considered mediation proposals.

Mediators Hopeful.

To what an extent intermediation between the United States and Huertista would be affected by a refusal of the Carranza element to suspend military operations against Huertista pending mediation, was the chief question confronting the South American mediators when they resumed their mission at the Argentine legation today. The work of the mediators, it is learned in authoritative quarters, would progress steadily no matter what the final attitude of Carranza was.

The mediators are still hopeful that the entire subject, including the nationalistic and economic aspects, may be brought within their deliberation, but if not, it is assumed they will still progress on the adjustment of the conflict growing out of the Tampico flag incident, on which President Wilson's action has been justified by Congress, the landing of American forces at Veracruz, and other issues.

Carranza Causes Delay.

With the declaration of a truce between Huerta and the United States government, interest centered today on Carranza's attitude. Carranza would resolve himself into the key stone of the diplomatic arch designed to bring about a solution of the whole problem of peaceful termination of the troubles between the United States and Mexico and its internal complications.

Huerta, it was announced, had agreed to the proposals of the South American envoys that hostilities between his forces and those of the United States cease. Secretary Bryan had informed the South American diplomats that this government too could not grant that there would be no hostilities during mediation proceedings.

With that situation in hand, the mediators today looked for a reply to the armistice proposal sent to Carranza. Unless he enters into the agreement with Huerta it was felt that mediation would be impossible.

CITY CARDINALS TO ORGANIZE AGAIN IN A COUPLE OF WEEKS

First Meeting Was Held Last Evening—Officers Are Elected and Lineup Partially Made Out.

The re-organization of the Janesville Cardinals baseball nine will take place within a couple of weeks as soon as the players on the prospective list can be brought together.

At a meeting held last evening, of these men interested in Janesville having a ball team this season, such as prevailed last year, Fred Porter was elected as manager of the club with Frank Fraundfelder as secretary and treasurer. The use of the Janesville Park Association grounds has been secured by the committee in charge of the track, and the games will be staged at that diamond, the first contest coming probably within three weeks.

The lineup will be practically the same, that is to say, not over three or four players will be ousted from their places. Wilson, the crack catcher on last season's team, is out of town, and cannot be secured. Other catchers are being looked for, that can hold "Cudd" Butters, who is on the twirling staff again. The weak spots will be patched up with class A men. Shelly Hill, Tom and William Sullivan, Bill Nehr and Fred Porter will join the nine again.

Realizing that they did not want to go into the speculative business this year, as they did last, without a cent to start with, several of the players went about the city yesterday, and in a few hours had secured over two hundred dollars to commence the season with.

The teams will be brought here, thus satisfying the public to a greater extent.

A captain will be elected later. The ground will be elected up into one of the finest diamonds in the state, and the players hope for the biggest season in baseball Janesville has ever experienced.

MILTON JUNCTION PLAYER DECLARED FASTEST MAN ON INDIANAPOLIS TEAM

Evidently "Nig" Cole, his home is in Milton Junction, is attracting considerable attention among the American Association fans as being one of the best outfielders in the circuit. The "Wisconsin boy," according to the sports writers, is "showing a burst of speed and is a heavy hitter." The Indianapolis outfield is composed of Reilly, Cole and Bill Allen, and the trio are declared to be the best throwing pasture men that the Indians have had for some time.

Sport Snap Shots

In spite of his losing, George Carpenter, the Frenchman, continues to be the big hit with Parisian fight followers. It is somewhat different over the water apparently than here.

The original companies.

The first of these big productions will be Richard Harding Davis' "Soldiers of Fortune" with Dustin Farnum, one of America's foremost actors, and probably the greatest in those strong characters of young and rugged westerners, in the leading role of Robert Clay.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Thomas enlisted the services of the Cuban army and two United States warships with their men, as well as a Cuban railroad, in order to produce this picture.

Following this feature will come Tully Marshall in "Paid in Full," Burr McIntosh in "In Mizozora," Edgar Selwyn in "Pierre of the Plains," Digby Bell in "The Education of Mr. Pip," and Upton Sinclair in "The Jungle."

These wonderful attractions will be offered at no increase in price of admission.

Billy Gibson put over a very neat deal when he signed Jim Coffey to fight Bomb Wells. The two will get together June 9, and his chances are plump, he will win the English heavy title and also the well-known Lonsdale belt. According to the English rules a fighter must be a native-born British subject to hold the English title. Coffey would come in under that since he has never become a naturalized American, though he has spent a great deal of his time in this country. The Lonsdale belt would be a nice thing to have around the house and would make a pretty penny for the owner in this country, says Billy Gibson.

No one ever hears very much of Mrs. Ty Cobb, but it seems that there is one all right and that she prefers to stay at home and mind the kids. As a rule, the wife of as prominent a person as Ty Cobb comes in for quite a little public notice and people like to know what color hair she has and so on. However, Mrs. Cobb fights shy of the publicity and gives her attention to her youngsters. There are two of them, Ty Jr. and Shirley, representing both sexes. Young Ty is said to be a regular member among his associates and shows a resemblance to his father in his love of adventure and activity. His father often slides into second and gets his clothes all muddled up and young Ty frequently comes home of an evening with his trousers as dusty and torn. Shirley is said to be a delightful little lady. Both Shirley and Ty hope that their father will have as brilliant a season as he has said he will.

THE TOWER OF BABEL.
 Wisconsin is one of the typical States of the Union where the foreign born population play a most important part. It is one of the great melting pots where the children of all nations assemble and become good honest American citizens.

According to the mother-tongue bulletin which has been issued by Director William J. Harris of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, the German was the largest group among the 1,557,330 persons of foreign white stock in Wisconsin in 1910, who represented 67 per cent. of the total white population. By mother tongue is meant the native language or that spoken before immigration, and the report covers all white persons of foreign stock, including the foreign born and also the natives, one or both of whose parents were foreign born.

As thus reported, the total foreign white stock whose mother tongue was German numbered 758,647. This number represented 33 per cent. of the total white population of Wisconsin, which was 2,320,555. The English and Celtic (including Irish, Scotch, or Welsh) group numbered 211,097, or 9 per cent.; the Norwegian, 161,510, or 7 per cent.; the Polish, 129,815, or 6 per cent.; the Swedish, 116,633, or 5 per cent.; the French, 45,337, or 2 per cent.; the Bohemian and Moravian, 45,336, or 2 per cent.; the Danish, 41,747, or 1.8 per cent.; and the Dutch and Friesian, 26,392, or 1.1 per cent. The number of persons in Wisconsin of foreign white stock reporting other principal mother tongues, were: Italian, 14,124; Yiddish and Hebrew, 12,857; Finnish, 8,088; Flemish, 5,314; Slovenian, 4,453; Slovak, 4,808; Lithuanian and Lettish, 4,356; Magyar, 4,305; Serbo-Croatian, 3,523; and Greek, 3,114.

In the city of Milwaukee the German group of the foreign white stock numbered 167,108, or 45 per cent. of the total white population, which was 372,809. Those reporting Polish as their mother tongue numbered 58,109, or 16 per cent.; English and Celtic (including Irish, Scotch, or Welsh), 25,089, or 7 per cent.; Yiddish and Hebrew, 7,757, or 2 per cent.; Bohemian and Moravian, 6,370, or 1.7 per cent.; Norwegian, 5,077, or 1.4 per cent.; and Italian, 4,837, or 1.3 per cent. The number of persons in Milwaukee of foreign white stock, reporting other principal mother tongues were the Slovenian, 2,458; French, 2,207; Magyar, 2,064; Dutch and Friesian, 2,058; Swedish, 1,639; Danish, 1,588; Serbo-Croatian, 1,638; Slovak, 1,577; and Greek, 1,219. The total foreign white stock in Milwaukee numbered 293,988 and represented 79 per cent. of the total white population.

As this is an official report its statements are of interest irrespective of whether or not its conclusions are correct. Inevitably many people will object to the basis of its computation as fallacious and misleading. Undoubtedly the mother tongue of every person born abroad of parents not at that time citizens of the United States may be safely set down as the language of the country of his nativity. But the director of the census groups with the white persons of each foreign stock the children of such persons born in this country. Nor is he contented with counting, for instance, German as the mother tongue of natives of Wisconsin both of whose parents were of German birth, but he does the same thing where only one of the parents was German. Thus a Wisconsin born family with an American mother or father would be set down in these statistics as having German for their mother tongue, though English is the language spoken in their home and English is the language which they studied at school, and they may not have sufficient knowledge of German to make out the headlines in a German newspaper.

RIDING FOR A FALL.
 Huerta is evidently riding for a fall. He is seeking to delay peace negotiations as much as possible by denigrating the efforts of the A. B. C. diplomats skipping the d. E. F. and G. to be added to the alphabetical list. He wants England, France and Germany to also have a hand in the solving of the problem which he is quite to except for the one clause, that is his elimination from Mexican political affairs.

also perfectly right in refusing to discontinue preparations for war should the negotiations fail. In this latter he should stand firmly on his rights.

The Chicago Inter Ocean, strongly anti-Wilson, in its editorial policy, says:

President Wilson, it is credibly reported from Washington, will grant the armistice asked by the A. B. C. mediators only in the sense, and to the extent, of the general provision of the Haugue convention. That is, he will not enter into any agreement to suspend mobilization of troops or other preparations for war.

The American people hope and believe that their President will not concede from that position. In view of the probable failure of mediation, because of the position in which Huerta has placed himself with his own followers and with the ignorant Mexican masses, it would be a betrayal of our soldiers' lives to avoidable disease and death to cease making ready for a war campaign in Mexico.

No observer of the situation whose wish for peace is not father to the thought believes that Huerta's acceptance of mediation is anything but an effort to gain time. That conviction is strengthened by the reports of the accession to Huerta of various insurgent chiefs.

These accessions are not from the ranks of the Constitutionalist proper, nor in the sphere of their organized operations. They are mainly from south of the capital. The most important claimed is that of the Zapatas, who have set up a sort of robber-baron principal in the little hill state of Morelos and southward toward Acapulco. Yet they show that Huerta's appeals for a reunion about himself are having some success.

President Wilson is also reported to be resolved to reject the expected demands of Huerta and Carranza for the evacuation of Vera Cruz as a preliminary. Such evacuation would be putting the cart before the horse. We seized Vera Cruz to bring Huerta to submission. We can give it up only when Huerta submits or disappears from the Mexican scene.

The president is positively affirmed to have rejected the suggestions from England, Germany and France that he withdraw his demand for the elimination of Huerta as a condition precedent to actual mediation. The point seems rather immaterial just now. If Huerta is forced to the submission we have demanded, his elimination logically follows. He may be confidently expected to fall a victim to the tempests of Mexican prejudice and passion he has raised.

However, the president may hold that in forcing the downfall of Huerta we have attained the necessary satisfaction for his insults to our flag. Be that as it may, all thinking and patriotic Americans will hold President Wilson right in refusing the evacuation of Vera Cruz until Huerta submits or falls, and in refusing to cease preparations for war until peace with honor is fully assured.

That vote on the water works is the next real contest. It comes May 12th and there appears to be a wide difference of opinion on the question. It would be a good thing to have it all threshed out before it is too late.

On The Spur of The Moment

Income Tax O. K.
 Among those who will raise no objection to the tax on incomes which exceed $3,000 per year will be the Amalgamated Postal Association of America. It will never touch any of them. We are led to this belief after having heard opinions upon the subject of the income tax expressed by Col. Bill Lampton, Walt Mason, Eddie Guest, Billie Kirk, John Bangs and Judd Lewis.

One of the older poets expressed it very neatly and times have not changed much since then. It was Charles Churchill who penned these immortal lines:

"What is't to us if taxes rise and fall?
 Thanks to our fortune, we pay none at all.
 Let meekworms, who in dirty acres deal,
 Lament those hardships which we
 His grace, who smarts, may bellow
 If he please,
 But must I bellow too, who sit at ease?
 By custom safe, the poet's numbers flow
 Free as the light air some years ago.
 No statesman e'er will find it worth his pains
 To tax our labors and excise our brains:
 Burthens like these, vile earthly buildings bear,
 No tributes laid on castles in the air."

From the Hickeyville Clarion.
 Ame Hilliker answered a matrimonial ad some time ago and went to Indianapolis to meet the woman and lead her to the altar. When he got there her husband met him at the train and said Ame could have her just as soon as a divorce could be secured, also that Ame could have their nine children. Ame left for the far west on the next train and no-buddy has heard from him since.
 Anse Judson has had to have the radiator of his car sent to the factory to be fixed and his wife says she don't see what is the use of havin' a radiator on a car in warm weather, anyhow.

Signs of the Times.
 It is exceedingly interesting to sit down to read the foreign section of a great metropolitan Sunday newspaper and find out that the most important item recorded is the fact that Count Boni de Castellane has taken to wearing lavender spats.

Count Zeppelin expects to arrive in America next year in one of his airships. If the count comes down in his usual manner it is to be hoped he doesn't land in any contested district, but in the open field.
 Seeing the need of enlarging his sphere, Captain Hobson now declares there will be a world-wide war between the Japanese and Americans.
 A vaudeville woman has arrived from Europe with purple hair. It isn't hard for even a sober person to see things in New York these days.

Dependables:

That's a coined word—not in the dictionary. Yet its meaning is plain enough when applied to The Big Store. This store is dependable—the Big Store name on an article of merchandise means that we have done all that is humanly possible to insure its high character, its appropriateness for the use for which it is intended, its reliability. If it fails after all—and where human hands and brains are concerned there is bound to be an occasional falling short of the desired end—we count it a privilege to make it right, prompt and without question.

As to Breathing.
 To breathe wrongly is to impoverish the blood, and through it to reduce the whole body to a state of susceptibility, which opens a way for all kinds of disease. Comparatively few persons take in as much air as they ought; hence parts of the lungs are apt to become weakened through disuse. The first care should be to breathe the best air possible; the next to obtain the proper amount in the right way.

Witch Still on an Island.
 The County Galway police have made a large capture of "potheen" barrels, tubs, and a fully working still at Gorumna island. They left the mainland in the middle of the night, and concealed themselves on the island until they discovered smoke arising from the still, when they rushed the place. They captured three of the smugglers and 4,400 gallons of wash—London Tit-Bits.

TODAY'S CLEAN-UP WORK SUCCESSFUL; CHILDREN ACTIVE

Children Show Activity in First Day of Annual Clean-Up—Downtown Alleys Given Attention.

Good results were accomplished in the first day's clean-up in Janesville, for the teamsters were busy in the wards, school children displayed an unusual interest in the work. Dr. S. B. Buckmaster and Frank Lane, who supervised the work stated that the citizens generally were putting forth an effort for the success of the movement.

The city teams were kept busy in the downtown district and on tomorrow night those in charge of the two day's crusade against an unsanitary city hope to have these places devoid of rubbish and thoroughly clean. Several owners of buildings rather protested in complying with the orders, one whose property in the rear of the store was a fire trap, boxes, excelsior and inflammable material had been allowed to accumulate to a dangerous limit, was warned to get busy and clean up. Other places where conditions were not favorable were noticed and the owners promised to have their back yards ready for inspection tomorrow night.

In the residence district better results were shown, civic pride having caused the residents to get busy with the rake, leaving the lawns and terraces with a clean, shining appearance and the winter's ash pile in the back yard carted away. Inspection trips showed that numerous alleys were in need of attention and if the residents fail to clean up today, a warning will be given them tomorrow morning. Great praise is due to the youngsters, who with their wagons and carts have aided materially in the work and have been one of the chief factors in the success of this year's march toward Janesville as a "Spotless town."

At the Lincoln school the children and teachers and janitor united in the clean-up of the yard and plantings shrubbery in making the yard the prettiest in the city.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:—Just a few words about the 25000 Club. What has become of that organization which started under the most favorable conditions? Not one meeting has been held this year, when they were supposed, according to by-laws and constitution, to meet once a month—the first Monday.

While the club has been unable to locate new factories in the past, they have done their best to get them, and it is no reason why there should not be a meeting held at least once in a while. There are so many other matters that should receive their attention. The club at the present time could start on a Fourth of July proposition. We are due this year to have a celebration that would eclipse all former occasions of that kind. Then there is the amusement park proposition that should receive the attention of the club. While it is a little late to do anything in that line as far as establishing our this year, still it would not be too early to start to have one next year. Numerous other civic matters might be taken up and advanced. All that is necessary is a little thinking and a little good work.

The street car proposition seems to have died out to a certain extent, simply on account of the slackness of meetings of the 25000 Club. The committee appointed some months ago to interview Manager Sparks, have done their duty as far as they could, but they need the 25000 Club to finish. An open meeting of the club to take some action on that proposition should be held, and a protest made that would bring results.

MYRTLE MALTPRESS WEDS ON THURSDAY

Edgerton Girl is United in Marriage To Earl E. Langworthy at Pretty Ceremony.

Edgerton, May 1.—A very pretty wedding took place last evening at seven o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ash, when Rev. A. W. Stevens of Oconomowoc united in marriage Miss Myrtle M. Maltpress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ash, and Earl E. Langworthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Langworthy. Helen P. Coon acted as bridesmaid while John Gossett of Milwaukee attended the groom. The bridal party descended the stairs to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, rendered by Miss Madge Wilson at the piano, and Miss Lucile Cullen on the violin. A beautiful arch of roses, lilacs of the valley and smilax, which had been constructed in the southwest corner of the living room, where the ceremony was performed, the ring service being used.

The bride was dressed in a gown of broad crepe trimmed with silver lace and wore a tulle veil in bonnet effect, carrying a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. The veil, her sole ornament being a diamond pendant, a present of the groom's. The bridesmaid wore pink satin trimmed with shadow lace with a corsage bouquet of pink roses and violets.

Eleanor, little sister of the bride, acting as flower girl, wore a white broadened marquisette dress over pink silk and carried a basket of pink roses and sweet peas. The house was beautifully and artistically decorated in pink and white roses, pink carnations, smilax and ferns.

After the ceremony a delicious repast was served to the seventy guests by the Misses Kathleen Cullen, Allen McIntosh, Gretchen Tallard and Rena Heddles. The happy couple went by auto to Janesville, where they took the eleven o'clock train to Minneapolis and other points. They will make their future home in Milwaukee, where Mr. Langworthy holds a position as auditor for the Travelers Insurance company. The bride is a popular young lady of the younger set.

The out of town guests who were present at the wedding were: Mrs. W. Dreyfuss, St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hubbard and Miss Eva Bendixen, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Heddles, Miss Beula Heddles, Miss Rena Heddles, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Canby, Madison; Mr. and Mrs. James McGiffin and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Talman of Janesville; Miss Anne Heritage from Dakota.

The Misses Jennie Child, Annie Slawson, Margaret Sager, Amelia Abbott and Elizabeth Child of Janesville motored here yesterday and spent the day with Edgerton friends.

Ward Wentworth is spending a few days in Winona, Minn., on business.

Mrs. Charles Spike and mother, Mrs. John Pierson, visited relatives in Janesville Thursday.

An extemporaneous contest took place yesterday afternoon at the high school between the following pupils:

High Cost of Living—Glenn Gardiner.

Mexican Question—Nellie Bradley.

The Trust Problem—Lowell Whittet.

Ford Profit-Sharing Plan—Marie Cunningham.

Immigration—Sanford Smith.

Marie Cunningham, Francis Curran, Lowell Whittet and Glenn Gardiner were chosen and are to give similar talks this evening at the annual contests in declamation and oratory in the assembly room of the high school. Medals will be given to the winners of such contests and the T. P. Earle cup will be given to the class which secures the greatest number of points in all contests. May 8th will occur the league contest at Jefferson. Representatives of the following schools will appear: Stoughton, Whitewater, Jefferson, Fort Atkinson and Edgerton.

The Bridge club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. Dickinson.

Witty Sentry.

A lieutenant of the United States Infantry recently met with a sad rebuff. The lieutenant was promenade in full uniform one day, and approached a volunteer on sentry, who challenged him with "Halt! who comes there?" The lieutenant, with contempt in every lineament of his face, expressed his feeling with an indignant "Ass!"

The sentry's reply, apt and quick, came: "Advance, Ass, and give the countersign."

Old Beliefs Lost.

Few are the beliefs and still fewer the superstitions of today. We pretend to account for everything until we do not believe enough for the humanity so essential to moral discipline. The phantasmic age has long been unfurnished of all its ingenious garniture. That glowing day has set, leaving none of its ethereal hues in our old twilight. We have lost something for which we have no substitute.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets.

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy no good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists.

Dolly's Ailment.

In Chicago a small Unitarian girl of four, whose father, a bank official, had complained more than once that the income tax made him sick, was playing that her doll was ill. Her mother asked, "What is the matter with dolly?" The child replied, "I think she has the income tax."

Today's Evansville News

Evansville, May 1.—The City Council held a special meeting at city hall last night called to order at 7:30 by Mayor Pearsall. Present: Aldermen Axtell, Babcock, Chapin, Shreve, Williams, Winston.

The call for the meeting was read. The cemetery commission recommended that the proposition of the Illinois Mausoleum Company be adopted, the company having visited the mausoleum erected by this company in Rockford and being very favorably impressed with the proposition.

According to the agreement entered into with the Illinois Mausoleum Company the city may select any of the following propositions:

First: The Company will purchase the land from the city at the regular price and build the Mausoleum.

Second: It will build the mausoleum and give the city four tombs to be used as a receiving vault and the use of the Chapel for the land.

Third: It will put up the building, give the city the use of the Chapel and twelve tombs for the sum of six hundred dollars.

This mausoleum when constructed, will be provided with a chapel large enough to accommodate any ordinary funeral service, and will be used as a receiving vault during the winter. On Tuesday evening the Loyal Workers of the M. E. church enjoyed one of their quarterly suppers for their families and themselves, in the church parlors. This was also the twenty-second anniversary of the marriage of one of their members Mrs. H. A. Schlein, so they planned to help celebrate the occasion.

The bride was dressed in the styles of 1892, the year of their marriage. Rev. C. E. Coon read the marriage ceremony. After which a beautiful supper was served.

The "workers" presented Mrs. Schlein with a solid silver cold meat fork. The evening was spent in social converse and song, when all departed for their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Schlein many times twenty-two years of wedded life.

A baby "crying in the night and with no language but a cry" found that language in a New Jersey town quite sufficient for the immediate family, as it was information to the effect that the house was on fire, thereby at the early age of one year saving twenty lives. ## HOME ECONOMICS SURPRISE VISITORS

Over Six Hundred Parents, Friends and Students Attended Exhibit at High School Yesterday.

The work accomplished at the high school in the home economics course, consisting of four years of domestic science and domestic art, was placed on exhibit yesterday afternoon in the economic department rooms on the third floor. The place was open to visitors, between the hours of two to five o'clock, and during that time, over six hundred parents, friends and students passed through the rooms to view the various kinds of work done by the girls of the four classes.

From little table centerpieces, and fancy towels, to beautiful dresses, the visitors gazed with wonder, and were greatly pleased and surprised that the girls were accomplishing so much from the course.

The manual training boys were also anxious to place on exhibition some of their work, and it was interesting to inspect the large cedar chest, mission clock, library table and book rack which were so well constructed by the boys.

Miss Beth Bailey, who has charge of the work, deserves credit for having placed before the public such a novel exhibit, which was so thoroughly enjoyed. It proved to the public that the high school girls pursuing the economics course are accomplishing a great deal; also that the manual training boys are not slow in mastering the details of their course.

Light refreshments, consisting of fruit, punch and cakes were served to all who attended the exhibit.

Following is a copy of the work involved in the home economics course, for the entire four years:

Yesterday afternoon the rear of Howard's block was the scene of a little sport between a few limelight city athletes and a 318-pound granger who stood six feet one straight in his stockings. One young man was quickly laid on the ground with the 318 pounds of humanity on top of him, and concluded to give up that kind of fun; but another more lucky Lilliput was forced into taking hold of the modern Gulliver, and after a somewhat exciting struggle succeeded in outwinding his huge antagonist and brought him down, to the great amusement of the lookers on.

YOUNG LADIES' SODALITY GIVES ENTERTAINMENT

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Patrick's church gave a dinner and dance at Apollo hall on Wednesday evening, April 29. The dinner was served at seven o'clock in the banquet hall. The decorations were very beautiful, consisting of red and white roses, interspersed with ferns and southern smilax. Hatch's orchestra furnished the music. After dinner cards and dancing occupied the evening. There were about one hundred and twenty-five guests present. The committee that had charge of the party was composed of the Misses Elizabeth Devins, Rose Britt, Mae Hayes, Elizabeth Gagan and Agnes Webber. Much credit is due the young ladies for the management of a very successful entertainment.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a girl of sixteen. I often meet a young man and he always smiles to me and I smile back, as I like him and know he is a gentle man. How can I get to know him, as he does not know any of my friends and I don't know any of his?

(2) Is it wrong for me to sit in the window and look at him when I know he is going past?

(3) How can I wash a white dress that is half silk and half cotton?

"THANK YOU."

(1) If he is very anxious to get acquainted with you he will manage to find somebody to introduce him, or he will get acquainted with some of the men folk of your family and ask to be introduced.

(2) Better not sit there too often. He'll think you are not quite so "easy" if he misses you once in a while.

(3) Have two gallons of gasoline, put one gallon in a tub and set it in a tub. Pour boiling water into the tub around the pail. Soak the dress up and down in the warm gasoline. When it appears clean, squeeze it out and rinse it in the other gallon of gasoline and hang outdoors in the sun.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We have the honor of serving at a junior-senior reception. What would be appropriate to wear?

(2) How late should girls stay out at night?

(3) Are we girls too old to play games out of doors?

(4) Is it proper for girls of our age to go to moving picture shows with boys?

(1) Wear your prettiest dresses, my dears.

(2) Not late at all. They should be in bed shortly after nine.

(3) Outdoor games are the best kind of play.

(4) You might go in the afternoon, provided your mother is willing and knows with whom you are going.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How do you use ammonia in respect to baking?

READER: Baker's ammonia is sometimes used in baking crackers and any kind of like substance. The ammonia is pulverized and dissolved in milk or boiling water.

Leaping lightly from buttons to buttonholes it is interesting to note that the bound and corded button holes are now things of the past and the good old honest-to-goodness normal buttonhole worked in thread has returned to its own. Buttons also now have their proper place and appear as they should according to best placket regulations in the middle of the back of the skirt. Even if there is no seam there, a slit is made for the placket any way so anxious is it to return to its old home after a wandering life for the last two or three seasons, and transitory settings in the front of the skirt at the side or on one hip.

It is a sad blow to all 1914 Cinderellas that loud pointed rumps are the rage in the slipper line. It seems rather perverse that Americans should take up the long pointed slipper and shoe just when it has been cast aside by the smart Parisian for the short water skirts the up-to-date shod foot will prove exclusively that it is shoes rather than brains that make large understandings.

Cheese Bisque—Into a pint of milk put a pinch of soda, and bring to the scalding point. To this add a cupful of stock (chicken or mutton or lamb) in which an onion has been boiled, and cupful of water in which rice has been cooked until you can run it through a strainer. Cook together in a good-sized saucepan two tablespoonsful of butter and two of four. When they are thoroughly blended and bubble pour on them the white soup and stir until it thickens to the consistency of cream. Now beat in a half cupful of grated cheese. Have ready in a bowl two well-whipped eggs and add one egg-pour, a little at a time a cupful of hot soup beating steadily to prevent curdling. Return the cupful of soup with the eggs to the soup on the fire, beat for half a minute, season with salt and pepper, and serve.

Corned Beef Hash—Remove the skin and the gristle from the cooked corned beef, then chop the meat. When the meat is very fat discard most of the fat. To the chopped meat add an equal quantity of cold boiled chopped potatoes. Season with salt and pepper, put into a hot buttered frying pan moisten with milk or cream, still until well mixed, spread evenly, then place on a part of the range where it may slowly brown underneath. Turn and fold on a hot plate. Garnish with a sprig of parsley in the middle.

Macaroni Cream—One-quarter box of gelatin or one tablespoonful of granulated gelatin, one-quarter cup of cold water, two cups scalded milk, yolks of three eggs, one-third cup of sugar, one-eighth teaspoonful of salt, two-thirds cup of pounded macaroni, one teaspoonful of vanilla, whites of three eggs. Soak the gelatin in cold water. Make a custard of the milk, yolks of the eggs, sugar and the salt; add the gelatin and strain into a pan set in ice water. Add the macaroni and the flavoring, stirring until it begins to thicken; then add the whites of the eggs beaten stiff, mould, chill and serve garnished with macaroni.

Scalloped Sweet Potatoes and Bacon—Mince the cooked meat—the fatter the better—and put a layer in the bottom of a baked dish. Cover with sweet potato dice, pepper, and put in more bacon. When all the materials are used up cover with crumbs; add enough milk to wet the

THE TABLE.

Cream Cake—Beat separately the whites and yolks of four eggs, to the whites add two cupfuls of sugar colored in a little at a time, and one cupful of sweet cream. Sift thoroughly two heaping cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, and one teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Add the whites last, stirring gently. Bake in a shallow pan.

Ginger Bread—Sift half a teaspoonful of salt and an even teaspoonful of baking-soda in one and a half cupfuls of flour. Rub in an equal quantity of brown sugar and of molasses. Beat smooth and light, adding gradually half a cupful of milk. Now stir in a cupful of prepared flour, after which add more flour until you can knead it as you would bread dough. Work it hard for one minute, roll into an even sheet, and cut to fit your baking pans, which must be well greased. Cut into squares with a jagging iron as the sheet lies in the pan, and bake covered for twelve minutes. Then uncover and brown.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

TO MY LOST LETTER FRIENDS.

HERE must be some among my one-time letter friends who are not my friends any longer.

I often feel sad when I think how they must dislike me. The people I refer to are those who ask me to answer some question or write upon some subject which particularly interests them, and whose requests I ignore.

Now, I do not mean to be rude. The point is this: I'm writing not for any one person, but for thousands. Of course it wouldn't be fair to gratify one person and bore nine hundred and ninety-nine. I receive a great many letters asking me to write upon subjects which interest the writers, but which are not of general interest, and upon which I do not think I have anything of particular value to say.

For instance, a young girl and her father have had a discussion as to whether it was proper for a young lady to be out after eleven o'clock. She holds that when she goes to the theatre or to parties at her friends' homes, she cannot get home before eleven without leaving before the play is over or breaking up the party. He thinks she ought to be home by eleven under any conditions.

Now, in the first place, this is a matter in which circumstances alter cases. I would not like to say that it is always right, nor always wrong, for a girl to stay out after eleven. It depends on the girl, her age, her escort, the nature of the party, etc. Therefore, I don't feel like laying down any rule.

Furthermore, I'm not sure there would be any general interest in this subject. If the girl had signed her name I should have been happy to have written her a brief note telling her of my opinion in her case. Perhaps she was afraid that I would publish her name, but she need not have been. Neither names nor letters will ever be published when the writers ask that they be withheld.

Don't be afraid to write me. I like to hear from you all. I love to know when some subject particularly interests you, and I especially like to hear the opposite point of view when you look at a matter differently. We must each speak from our own experience, and your experience may sometimes contradict mine, and mine yours. There are two sides to everything. Let's have them both whenever possible.

And if you ask me to discuss something of general interest and something on which I have some opinions worth expressing, I shall be happy to discuss it.

But when you want my opinions on merely personal matters please sign your name, and when possible I'll answer you in a personal note—especially if you enclose a stamp.

And now I hope my lost letter friends who had decided that Ruth Cameron was rude and disagreeable because she did not respond to some request, will read this, understand and forgive and become my friends once more.

Women Worth While

MRS. GAYLORD M. SALTZGABER.

By Selene Armstrong Harmon.

Mrs. Gaylor M. Saltzgaber, wife of the commissioner of pensions, comes of a line of ministers on both sides of the family. Her father the Reverend Mr. Little, was one of the great preachers in Ohio in early days, running a farm as a side issue to his main profession, which was traveling over the country to see his wide-scattered parishioners.

On the distaff side there was the same preponderance of the "cloth". Indeed amongst the family connections may be numbered the famous character known as the white pilgrim, a preacher of pioneer days who never rested, but rode on always through the forests on his missions of mercy. He dressed in white summer and winter and thus obtained the name which would have aptly fitted a crusader.

There is easily seen the sturdy strain of her pious, pioneer ancestors. She is a great church-woman, connected with many religious societies, a member of the choir, a mission-worker and an ardent prohibitionist. In fact, a drop of ardent spirits would remain as long in her home as it would take her to toss it out of the window.

Born on her father's farm near the town of Xenia, Ohio, she attended school in that place, later assuming the duties herself of a teacher. Much of her time was spent in church and charity work, training choirs and similar occupations. When she became the wife of the commissioner he was a widower with several children, and to them she became a real mother. Her sense of duty is tempered with a gentle kindness and a manner of sincerity which speaks plainly of her high sense of right.

"I got this new old washboard! You'll never break my back again—SKITCH saves the rubbing."

Praises be for SKITCH! It's a perfect wonder. Throw your washboards away, women! Don't break your back rubbing clothes or don't let your wash-woman break her poor back rubbing about the house. SKITCH does it better than rubbing can do it, and makes your clothes last longer and look nicer.

SKITCH is a marvel! Try it right away and see what SKITCH does. Three teaspoons of SKITCH to a boilerful of clothes and the dirt is just sketched right out of the dirtiest garments while you sit and rest or do up your housework.

You never heard of anything so fine as that. There is nothing else like SKITCH—nothing like it was ever.

Get a 10c package of SKITCH of your grocer today and see the joyful happy wonder of it. Enough for seven washings in a 10 cent package of SKITCH—costs just a little over a cent to save a day's back breaking, rubbing and a day's misery of keeping your hands in hot suds, less than the soap used in rubbing would cost.

If your grocer doesn't have SKITCH he can get it for you from his jobber. If he won't, write to me—send me his name and I'll send you a big free sample. Hans, Fichtenberg, Milwaukee, Wis.

She loves to talk of her Ohio home and the surrounding country, which she says is full of prosperous farmers. Then there are interesting stories which she remembers, stories she has as a child heard her father tell in the evening when the family was gathered about the open fire. And these are of the olden days—days when the minister-father was at one end of an "underground railroad", when he risked his life in aiding escaped slaves by concealing them in his home—days which bring vividly back the scenes of Uncle Tom's Cabin and Eliza's flight over the ice.

Police Duty Left to Burghers. In the eighteenth century the whole safety and order of Glasgow, Scotland, were intrusted to the unpaid and reluctant burghers. Every citizen who was between the years of eighteen and sixty, and paid a yearly rent amounting to $10, had to take his turn at guarding the city. "On touch of drum," says a writer, "the gentleman was at his post at ten at night, and strolled with weary tread and yawning gait along the Trongate and High street, and up the pitch dark lanes, of winter nights till four in the morning. After that hour the city was without a police."

TELLS THE STORY OF THE BOY IN WARFARE

State Historical Society Publishes record Kept by Jenkin Lloyd Jones in the Civil War.

One of the most interesting of the many publications of the Wisconsin State Historical Society is the diary of Jenkin Lloyd Jones, a soldier boy in a Wisconsin battery during the civil war. The volume is of particular interest to the reader during the ten years of his long and memorable life. He lived in this city and was pastor of the All Souls' church. As a youth he left Springfield, Ill., but on the outbreak of the war, he returned to his home in Illinois. He returned a seasoned man, laying down the blue he became a soldier of the Lord, and has continued his service ever since.

The diary is that of Jenkin Lloyd Jones, now pastor of the All Souls' church in Chicago and a frequent visitor in Madison. It begins with the day when as a country lad he joined the 6888th Central Postal Directory, and ends when on July 18, 1865, he was mustered out in Madison.

The Civil War is not described with the broad sweep of the historian who sees only the movements of armies, but from the daily viewpoint of the private, to whom the war was a succession of new and interesting sights, of waitings for the enemy with consequent skirmishes and battles, of freedom of doing the right thing, and hot summer marches, of lack of provisions and fuel at times and of plenty at others, and of all the daily details of a three years' war experience.

On a note that did not like the war, and when, fifty years after, he wrote the preface, he said:

A great thing was done for humanity in America, between 1861 and 1865, if it could not have been done otherwise, it is worth all it cost. And if this same dire predicament were to come again, I would do my part all over again. But oh! it was such a wrong way of doing the right thing. May the clumsy sentences of a boy's diary, so lacking in perspective, so inadequate in expression, contribute a few sentences to the Gospel of Peace. I was too young to go out in 1861," he says, "I cannot say that I panted for the fray. I dreaded the dire moment when conscience, not the government, would deliver me into a service that had no charm for me. Another winter's schooling in the Normal Academy, another sowing and harvest time, then leaving unstacked the hay that I had mown, and in the shocks the oats that I had cradled, I obeyed this stern daughter of the voice of God—to use Wordsworth's phrase—and turned my face to the south. I joined my old comrades of the Spring Green Guards in the Sixth Wisconsin Battery, nine months or so after their first enlistment.

Was in Artillery. "I was a mother's boy," and with the exception of three months' district schooling at an aunt's house in Watertown, when a little and never been away from home over night, I had not then and have not since, owned a fire-arm of any description. As I approach my three-score-and-ten, I can say that the sight of a gun, or pulled the trigger on anything smaller than a cannon, and that only when ordered."

In the last page of his diary, on the 15th of July, 1865, he describes the death of the boys at the battle of Appomattox, and being "Free" and concludes by saying:

Joys in Freedom. "Yes, 'Free,' but for the first time in my life I am an old soldier, and I have course to pursue. Having arrived at age with life's issue fairly before me and undecided what course to pursue. Inclination and duty seem strangely at variance. The importance of such questions is almost oppressive. But I must strive to attain the highest good that lies in my power. The dictates of conscience must be my guide. Tonight I retrace my steps to my quiet valley home. The many tender memories which bind me to my comrades of the march, battle and camp, are more than likely forever broken on this earth. And the diary which I have kept unbroken is hereby added with the end of my service, having lived two years and eleven months in the service of my country. Three of the best years of my life have been lost to self instruction, and the plans and hopes of my childhood have been ruthlessly toppled down, but the time has not been lost. I have no regrets for the way it has been spent. My prayer is that the remainder of my life may be as usefully spent. So, dear Diary, goodbye."

Wat if its not a lady fly, I sed.

Don't ask imbrassing kwestions, sed pop, the luckt remains that Delectable lurns has reported that wun fly has bin observed to lay as many as 9 millyun eggs wile shopping in an attiroon, so consequently, if you swat the fly in time, you will be doing both the world and the little flies a grate favor, because nobody wants the flies and if they were bddy wunty wood only be nocked about from pillar to post without evin an agent for the S. P. C. A. to take there part.

But I havent saw any flies yet, I sed.

Seek and yee shell find, sed pop, ill give you 2 cents for every fly you bring to me cold and stiff in delth within the next 2 days. No editorial riter can say in a publick spirited citizen, as far as this house go, I'm determined to do my duty.

I have to get them today or tomorrow, I sed.

O, if its a rush ordir, sed Mr. Casey, I think thares always wun or 2 hanging eround waiting for the gang to kum alawng, go awn in and look if you want to. Wich I did, looking awl eround the stabl and seeing 6 in different places, swatting 4 and missing 2, and I took them hoam in a little pectheboard box, and pop was still in the setting room, and undumped them out awn the arm of his chare and pop looked up and saw them, saying, Hay, take them away.

Thares 4 thare, thas 8 cents werth, I sed.

REMEDY USED BY THREE GENERATIONS

Mothers Who Took it When Children Now Giving it To Their Children.

There must be genuine merit to an article that has stood the test of two generations of users.

In the field of medicine none has had greater success, nor retained that success to a greater degree, than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is now being used by three generations of people. Its use in families is constantly becoming more general. The reason, primarily, is that it has merit. It is what it represents itself to be, a laxative- tonic; it does not make exaggerated claims nor use coarse language to set forth its virtues.

It is a medicine, but so mild and gentle a medicine that thousands of mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet, in a slightly larger dose, it is equally effective for grown-ups. It is for any disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels, for constipation, no matter how chronic, for dyspepsia no matter how severe, for biliousness, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, headaches, drowsiness after eating and similar complaints arising from a clogged-up condition of the bowels. It is pleasant to the taste and does not gripe. It can be used with safety and good results by anyone at any age or in any condition of health, and that person's health will improve. Every druggist sells it and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Thousands of families throughout the country are never without Syrup Pepsin in the house, among them Mrs. W. A. Taylor, 717 Lincoln Ave., Beloit, Wis. She has five children and gives Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to all of them as needed. Little William used to cry half the night with cramps and pain, but since being given Syrup Pepsin he does so no longer. The use of this remedy will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts, purgatives and physics generally as they are entirely too harsh. Syrup Pepsin cures gradually, but the cure is comfortable, safe and permanent.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

poorly for the past few weeks, does not improve as fast as his friends would wish. He is confined to the house and bed for the greater part of the time.

THE PRODIGAL SON (TEMPERANCE LESSON).

(The story.)

A son in a noble and wealthy family, chafing under parental restraint, and sighing for fresh fields of voluptuous conquest, inconsiderately bequeaths an ante-mortem division of the estate. The indulgent father makes it. Perhaps he has no recourse; parental authority is at an end. The son's heart is callous to the appeal of love. The reckless youth, the gruff, defiant rebel. In the shortest time possible the infatuated youth tucks the sparkling gems and golden bars, his patrimony in portable form, in the pockets of a money belt and went abroad. He wasted his substance. He tossed it in the air, as the farmer does his wheat when he will sow it from the chaff. He lived dissolutely. He was insatiable while his infatuation lasted. The coincidence of the devoured patrimony and the universal famine struck a pathetic touch to the sorry plight of the dissolute spendthrift. He was left behind in the race. He never, in spite of his infatuated effort, so much as reached the glittering goal of his wanton ambition. The gay reveler, party that kept him company while his means held out, swept past him thanklessly and disdainfully when his once plethoric purse was at last empty. He awoke from a dream—alone, penniless! With the pertinacity of despair he girded (literally) himself to a foreign landowner, whom in his prosperity he would have dubbed a "Gentile dog"—with whom he would have had no intercourse, much less receive a favor from him. In his despair he cleaves to the foreigner so tenacious, that he can not be shaken off. A gradual task is given him—offensive to the senses, repugnant to the ideas of ceremonial cleanliness. So sharp were the pangs of hunger that he kept coveting the swine that feed the locusts; he threw down before them. What humiliation, sorrow, despair are compressed in the half-dozen words, "And no man gave unto him." At last the hypocritical spell of sin is broken. Self-consciousness, self-control are gained. Memory brings the ancestral home. The floor of blessing, brightness. What abundance, comfort care there extends to the most abject mendicant. "I will! What a battle-royal has made possible those salient words! Fear, shame, pride have been conquered. I have sinned" is the correlate of "I will arise." Confession, absolute and frank, without apology, shall be made. The penalty of apostasy, disheritance, servitude instead of sonship, shall be assumed without a syllable of complaint. It is done. But how different the sequel from that which the prodigal anticipated! He is met long before he can reach the door where he expected to make his confession. The father's compassion, how admirable! Kiss of reconciliation, now sweet, the robe, richly dyed, is cast about the sunburnt shoulders. The signet of rank is placed upon the wan finger. Bare feet, mark of servitude, are shod with sandals of fine-mau. Now follows the joyous banquet. The murmuring Pharisees can not but see themselves portrayed in the elder son, with his ill-formed, ill-natured present. The true Messiah had come to heal the sick, raise the dead, and the lost. Will the hale, and strayed, those who do not need his kindly offices, begrudge them to their brothers, whose plight is so pitiable? "Desperate" the plea unanswerable is reached, the plea unanswerable is reached.

THE TEACHER'S LANTERN.

The primary use of the parable of the Prodigal Son must not be lost sight of. It is evangelical, and modern applications by Jesus sought to justify his kindly and familiar bearing towards publicans and sinners, at which the Pharisees and scribes were so outraged. He showed the venient renegades of Israel as still the objects of Divine compassion, his restoration possible—a thing He earnestly sought. In its universal, gospel application this "Pearl of Great Price" shines as a revolt against a beneficent Heavenly Father, whose law is right and just and good. Here is mirrored the freedom of the will. The son had his own way. He is not let or hindered, except by the pleadings of love and its faithful warnings. The folly of sin has no more startling exemplification. True as startling, drawn to life! How swift the "descentus Averni"! How soon the gold and his money are parted! How irrevocable the last estate! Remorseless! In the mire with swine! Who shall ever number the sinners to whom this parable has been the "open sesame" to how a new life. Blessed be the day in which it was spoken! "I will arise!" "Father, I have sinned!" The Heavenly Father meets the returning prodigal in the way "Lost." "Dead." Here is no minifying of the prodigal's fallen state. Lost to God; lost to heaven; dead in trespasses and sins! The far country is not a matter of geography. It is excessive of estrangement, of alienation from God. The prodigal's theology was bad, though it showed well the strength of his conviction. It would be impossible for him to ever be his father's hired servant. He is son or nothing. "Sinned" heaven-high and in thy sight. Here the penitent is strictly orthodox. The tumult of sin consists in this that it done against God, Judah's penitent King knew this when he cried: "Against thee, thee only, have I sinned." With this truth Joseph armed himself when he cried: "How can I do this sin against my God?" Solomon is the example for all time of the unsatisfying nature of sin. He "drank every cup of joy, heard every trumpet of fame, heard his lying protestations of the innermost of the sensual world to satisfy an immortal. 'Vanity of vanities, all is vanity.' Joy in heaven, that is the measure of the sinner's perdition. Where sin is a mere episode, a passing incident, a dilemma, extinction from which is easy, there would be nothing in that to set the joy-bells of the skies ringing. It is because the sinner and the crumbling edge of hell is because of that it here joy in the presence of the angels of God when the sinner is saved.

ANALYSIS AND KEY.

1. The "Pearl of Parables." Primary object: Intended to justify Jesus' attitude toward publicans and sinners. Pictures renegades objects of Divine compassion.

2. Secondary object: To picture sin as a revolt against the beneficent Father. Incidental lessons: Freedom of the will. Folly of sin. Unsatisfying nature. Desperate consequences. Evangelical benediction. Discriminated from legal. The process and course of recovery. The Divine compassion.

Hope for the Hopeless

By REV. L. W. CONNELL
Assistant to the Dean
Mundy Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—And as Jesus passed forth from thence, he saw a man, named Matthew, sitting at the receipt of custom; and he saith unto him, "Follow me." And he arose, and followed him.—Matt. 9:9.

In the verse following the text, we are told "Jesus sat at meat in the house; but Mark and Luke say that the feast was in Matthew's home. It is easy to do good "to be seen of men," but here is a man who humbly hides himself and thus exhibits the mark of a saint. And what poor material was Matthew for the making of a saint!

The publicans were servants of the tax farmers, who collected dues for Rome, and were extortioners; the custom house official was considered the worst of his class. The Jews had a saying that bears and lions might be the fiercest wild beasts in the forest, but publicans and informers were the worst in the cities. For a Jew, such as Matthew was, to enter thus into the service of the oppressors of his own race, was considered the lowest degradation. The religion of the day had no hope for such a man.

Some who read these words may have given up hope for acquaintances, and even for those of their own household. There may be some, still more unfortunate, who have given up hope for themselves. Let us see what Jesus did for a man who was considered beyond redemption.

The Saviour.

(1) He called this man to himself. Matthew did not seek him, but he sought Matthew. Christ's words are true, "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you." He calls us by his Holy Spirit, by sick beds, by sorrows, by the words of friends.

"I've found a Friend, oh, such a Friend: He loved me ere I knew Him. He drew me with the cords of love, And thus He bound me to Him."

(2) He proved attractive to this man. The Pharisees acted out their feelings, "I am holier than thou." But, though sinless, Jesus was the friend of sinners. He won Matthew's heart, and when men know the love of him who was lifted up on the cross for their sins, they are still drawn to him. Raphael's "Transfiguration" is an unsightly dab when seen from certain angles; we must get the right viewpoint to behold the glories. To a broken and contrite heart, Jesus is altogether lovely.

(3) He was misunderstood. The Pharisees inquired, "why eateth your Master with publicans and sinners?" It cost Matthew something to follow Jesus, but it cost Jesus more to reckon on him among his disciples. Even if it requires great sacrifices to become a Christian, we should remind ourselves that Christ's followers often cause him grief and shame; still, he invites us.

The Saint.

What were the results of Christ's call on Matthew?

(1) He left his business. It may make a similar demand now and some may not be willing to heed it; the Gadarenes preferred their swine to Jesus (Luke 8:26-37). But Christ promises, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matt. 6:33).

(2) He became an open disciple. By the grace of God, he takes rank above Nicodemus and Joseph, who were disciples "but secretly." The hearts of some go out to Christ, but they are not willing to confess him before men. But the promise is, "if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thy heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." (Romans 10:9).

(3) He endeavored to win others. The feast in the house was doubtless for the purpose of acquainting his friends with Jesus. Every follower of Christ has the opportunity of reaching those in his circle of influence. The cultivated Henry Drummond helped students especially, while Samuel Hadley led many a drunkard to Jesus. What blessing you will miss, what loss may come to your friends, if you do not follow Christ!

(4) He was lifted out of the commonplace. Matthew seems to have been an ordinary man; he writes as a plain man of business. Yet he was made an evangelist and apostle; and John, in vision, saw his name in the foundations of the new Jerusalem (Rev. 21:14). The same Saviour made out of Bunyan, the swearing tinker, the author of "Pilgrim's Progress," and has wrought many such miracles. He offers to write your name in "The Lamb's book of life!"

Why should you do without him? It is not yet too late; He has not closed the day of grace. He has not shut the gate.

and in all that time has never added an "improvement" that proved a failure. But unless you sit down in front of this beautiful cabinet and see its wonderful conveniences yourself you cannot hope to realize how much labor this new Hoosier would save you.

(1) See for instance, how the big, roomy, metal table, slides out 18 inches over the base. Notice how an exclusive Hoosier patent prevents this table from warping.

(2) Observe especially how cleverly the inside of the door space above the table is utilized to bring things you need often nearest your hand. The sliding table enables you to open the doors without removing anything from the table, and the inside of the doors save any danger of knocking things over by reaching across the table for those supplies you use scores of times daily.

Our window, displaying these features in "White Beauty," has caused more talk than any window display we've ever had. SEE IT. Tomorrow is the last day.

(3) "What shall we have for Dinner?" If you are one of the millions of homes in which that is an eternally perplexing problem, Mrs. Christine Frederick's Food Guide—now an exclusive part of the Hoosier Cabinet, will save you enough time and money to pay for the Cabinet in less than a year. Simply turn the dial until you see the menu you want and a choice of several perfectly balanced economical menus is before you. Don't fail to examine this feature tomorrow.

(4) Every woman has favorite recipes. If you're like most women, you have difficulty remembering where you put the one you want. The Metal Recipe Card File has 50 cards and ten index guides. You can paste or write the recipe and file it always at your finger's ends. A special holder is provided so you can keep any recipe you are using at level of your eyes—without holding or rolling it.

It cannot grind grit or dirt through. It makes finer sift and lighter. The only thing of its kind. An absolutely new helper in your kitchen.

These and 35 other conveniences are worth examining tomorrow—even at some personal effort on your part. Tomorrow is your last chance to decide whether you want them now on the easy Hoosier Plan.

Want Ad Efficiency

A woman in a nearby town started a private dancing class. She was desirous of forming a class of children as well as adults. To do this of course she must let the people know about it—that is if she wanted pupils.

She was a wise little woman; she wanted pupils. If she put her time in on this class, she wanted the right kind of results.

She ran a card in her home paper, left it in; ran it until she had proved to her pocketbook and her sarcastic neighbors that she could make dancing classes pay.

Simply another case of the efficiency of the want ad page. What is this page of your paper doing for you?
